The diagram shows a 1D lattice with three distinct regions labeled A, B, and C. Region A is the central part, colored red. Region B is to the right of A, colored yellow. Region C is to the left of A, colored blue. The lattice is represented by a horizontal line with tick marks at the boundaries of these regions.
